

My husband & I oppose further monopolization of the media. The media should serve the public's interests. There must be a democratic (public) debate on this or any rule change of such magnitude. This rule change has potentially devastating consequences to the rights of the general public to know & to speak. Surely, there's no pressing reason not to have public hearings on this matter to fully air the issues & concerns - it's clear that the corporate media's interests have been well represented by its lobbyists to the FCC - a debate must be take place & must include the voices of the general public, as well. Thank you for your consideration.
